Fun Facts: Cat & Dog Teeth

- Dogs have 42 teeth as adults. Most adult cats have 30. (People typically have 32 permanent teeth.)

- Sometimes pets end up with extra teeth and need veterinary help, when baby teeth don’t fall out or when too many adult teeth come in.

- Human mouths have way more “microbial flora” (aka germs) than pet’s mouths do.

- Pets rarely get cavities because they don’t eat sweets and their jaws and tooth surfaces are different from ours.

- Professional pet dental care includes cleaning, exams and x-rays just like what human dentists do.
